NOVALIS-FRAGMENTE

1.
Alles scheint auf uns herein zu strömen, weil wir nicht heraus strömen. Wir sind negativ, weil wir wollen - je positiver wir werden, desto negativer wird die Welt um uns her - bis am Ende keine Negationen mehr seyn wird - sondern wir alles in Allem sind.
2.
Alle Märchen sind nur Träume von jener heymathlichen Welt, die überall und nirgends ist.

Die Philosophie ist eigentlich Heimweh - Trieb überall zu Hause zu seyn.
3.
Man sollte Stolz auf den Schmerz seyn - jeder Schmerz etc. ist eine Erinnerung unsers hohen Rangs.
4.
Wir suchen überall das Unbedingte, und finden immer nur Dinge.
5.
Die Welt des Märchens ist die durchausentgegengesetzte Welt der Welt der Wahrheit (Geschichte) - und eben darum ihr so durchaus ähnlich - wie das Chaos der vollendeten Schöpfung.

In einem ächten Märchen muß alles wunderbar-geheimnißvoll und unzusammenhängend seyn - alles belebt.
6.
Alles ist Samenkorn.
7.
Frey seyn ist die Tendenz des Ich - das Vermögen frey zu seyn ist die productive Imagination - Harmonie die Bedingung ihrer Thätigkeit - des Schwebens, zwischen Entgegengesetzten. Sey einig mit der selbst ist also Bedingungsgrundsatz des Obersten Zwecks - zu Seyn oder Frey zu seyn. Alles Seyn, Seyn überhaupt ist nichts als Freyseyn - Schweben zwischen Extremen, die nothwendig zu vereinigen und nothwendig zu trennen sind. Aus diesem Lichtpunct des Schwebens strömt alle Realität aus - in ihm ist alles enthalten - Object und subject sind durch ihn, nicht er durch sie.
Ichheit oder productive Imaginationskraft, das Schweben - bestimmt, producirt die Extreme, das wozwischen geschwebt wird - Dieses ist eine Täuschung, aber nur im Gebiete des gemeinen Verstandes. Sonst ist es etwas durchaus Reales, denn das Schweben, seine Ursache, ist der Quell, die Mater aller Realität, die Realität selbst.
Das Unbekannte, Geheimnißvolle ist das Resultat, und der Anfang von Allem.

Nur das Unvollständige kann begriffen werden - kann uns weiter führen. Das Vollständige wird nur genossen.

Ruhe und gebildete Unbegreiflichkeit.
9.
Scham ist wohl ein Gefühl der Profanazion. Freundschaft, Liebe und Pietät sollten geheimnißvoll behandelt werden. Man sollte nur in seltnen, vertrauten Momenten davon reden, sich stillschweigend darüber einverstehen. Vieles ist zu zart um gedacht, noch mehres um besprochen zu werden.
10.
Alles Gute in der Welt kommt von innen her, und also ihr von außen, aber es blitzt nur hindurch. Das Ausgezeichnete bringt die Welt weiter, aber es muß auch bald fort.

PERFORMING INSTRUCTIONS:

MEASURES, durations:

This piece is quite open and flexible, often following the natural flow of spoken and song words. There is given and needed flexibility for performance. By this reason there will not always be possible to be absolute consequent in notation; the clearest solution on every specific place has been chosen.

In bar areas the spoken words are not directly bound to the song and the cello, but follows its own natural rhythm after given entrances. A certain degree of speed interpretation is needed to be able to finish the text/music within a given field or before the next entrance

In the open area following the dotted bar line, the durations are quite relative, often following the pace of the spoken words, coordinated with dotted lines. It will be necessary to follow the other performers very closely on score as well as live and it will require a solid portion of awareness. In such parts pauses will often be left as empty space, letting the coordination from other voices rule. Fermatas is used to indicate a longer brake. Durational pauses may be added to give a certain indication. Commas indicates short brakes/breath.

In general the accuracy of the durations and metronome indications are less important than the free and natural flow of the gestures.

GENERAL PERFORMANCE NOTES:

- ♯ ↓ quartertone up/down
- gradually transition between one state and another.
- ◁ ▷ al/dal niente

Other abbreviations according to normal praxis.

PERFORMING INSTRUCTIONS:

SOPRANO PART:

Sudden outbursts in the dynamic ranges are to be sung somewhat abrupt.

Portatos (glissandos like) if beginning with a grace note, (added to a duration) means immediate start, no underlining of start note. Others starts after natural stating the of start note, but the portato should be given the greater part of the notes given duration. Endnote notated as a gracenote indicates that it should not be hold or accentuated.

x-shaped note indicates spoken words, normally unpitch and then placed at lower d-line. x placed on stem indicates half-sung or sprechgesang, both pitched, the latter more dramatic.

pronunciation: is following normal german customs. If in doubt consult text.

PERFORMING INSTRUCTIONS

VIOLINCELLO

♩ Snap or Bartok pizzicato
Gett: gettattos should be allowed to bounce a "natural" number of times, very well including slight decresc.+ rit.
clt / clb col legno tratto/battutto; string stroken/beaten with the wood of the bow
1/2cl Equal amounts of wood and hair
Al Ponte/Batt/Batt al ponte:
The al ponte (accented & staccato) is a short, violent, bowed attack almost at bridge, heavily distorted, preferably with a fair distortion tone quality. Battutto should be shorter, the bow hitting more from above, less violent and with less attack noise /distortion, but still heavily attacked. The battutto al ponte likewise, but closer to the bridge producing more distortion. In all versions the sensation of pitch are to be kept intact.
☐ This sign indicates heavy bow pressure producing a scratch sound with much distortion. In pp areas to indicate a similar sound; a sort of damped, dead distortion sound.
↓ "Hairy sound", almost no bow pressure, barely audible. Pitch audible, some distortion, but the sound from the hair dominating.
Natural harmonics written as diamond shaped note head at actual position on given string. (roman numerals) Small note in brackets indicates actual sound.
gliss: the form of curve to be followed as an approximate gesture.
—————> gradually transition from one state to another (f.ex from sul p to sul t: P —————> T:
—————^{to pos}> Action physically to be continued until reaching position for producing next sound or until finished. (f.ex. end of bow) May modify the indicated durations.
tremolos, trills and gracenotes always as fast as possible.
glissando beginning or ending on gracenote means start/stop subito without accentuating. Glissando line may indicate approximate intended gesture.

PERFORMING INSTRUCTIONS

PLAY-ACTOR / RECITER

SPOKEN WORDS:

The text should mostly be read with normal german phrasing, naturally read without too much exaggeration, mostly rather slow. For timing see "measure". Open space may indicate brakes, but the recitation is mostly following its own natural pace, relatively independent from the other voices and modifying durations given. Meaning; It is to a certain degree open to interpretation whether open space means a brake or prolonged speech. Beginning of words or sentences, however, may often indicate a certain preferred coordination, and of course the dotted lines are to be taken in consideration. A certain degree of speed interpretation of reading is thus needed to be able to finish the text naturally before the next entrance. Often will the pace of the spoken words be leading the other voices.

The note lines are kept in order to, anyway in a few places, indicate relative pitch level, measures and phrasing, mostly one at a time:

The pitch are never given accurate, and the note lines are only a sort of representation of the whole voice range, the note indications to be considered propositional within such a setting, thus of course extremely approximate. The noteheads are therefore always x-shaped to give remembrance to this.

Glissando like patterns are indications of phrasing, whenever a more specific interpretation of gesture is required.

POSITIONS

Performing this work includes the choreography as shown on this page.
The importance of the positions are symbolic, not that of accuracy, neither that of acting, and should by no means give a dramatic impression. To be carried out relaxed and natural. Actual stage to be taken in account.

The given numbers are starting positions of each piece with corresponding number

This piece requires several note stands.

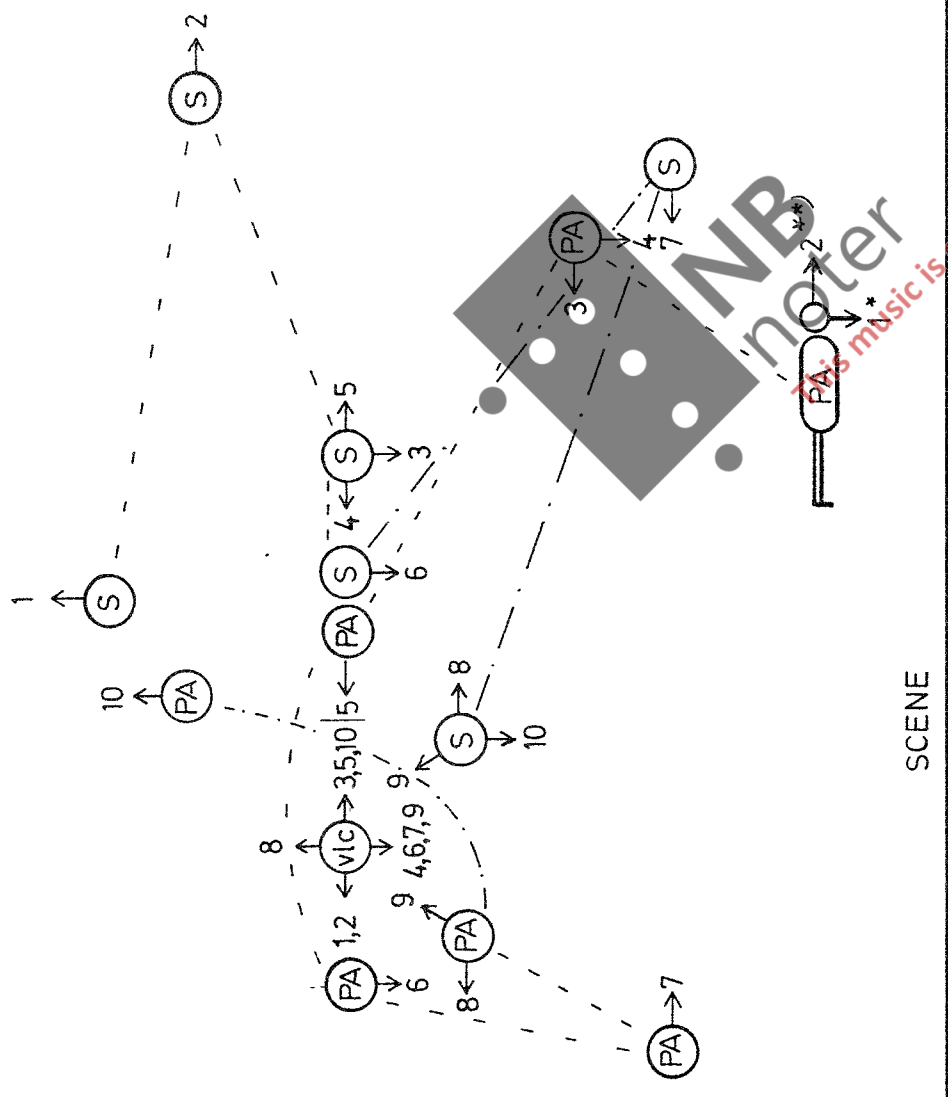

When turning on same position one is free to either turn the note stand or to use several.

Arrows indicate direction of face.

Cello player to use a chair without back (or if preferred turnable or wheeled)

*) Play-actor is lying down on side, face to public

) half rising, leaning on hands. Action may be started when the piece begins.
