

Autumn arias

for clarinet, cello and strings

Synne Skouen (2012)

er skrevet for, og tilegnet Hans Christian Bræin, Øystein Birkeland og Det Norske Kammerorkester.

Det er bare én ting som kan gjøre meg like oppstemt som musikk, og det er mennesker. Av dette følger at musikere ligger mitt hjerte særlig nær. Og noen musikere har et nærvær og et alvor i det de gjør, som for meg er dét det handler om.

To slike musikere er Hans Christian Bræin og Øystein Birkeland. Vi har arbeidet sammen før, og spor av dette (Nina Grünfelds dokumentar om sin far, "Den døende doktoren"), fins nok i Autumn arias. Den gang oppsto ønsket om å gjøre mer, sammen.

Så er det Det Norske Kammerorkester, som jeg har hatt noen av mine beste konsertopplevelser med opp gjennom årene; et orkester som til en hver tid er fylt av hele det overskuddet som i dag fins på utøversiden i norsk orkesterliv.

Det er et orkester som dessuten kunne svare på mitt første ønske med verket: Å skrive musikk praktisk talt uten faste takter også for et større ensemble, som dessuten fungerer uten dirigent. Der alt hviler på opplevelsen av musikk som innforstått gestus og en situasjonsbestemt flyt; et slags instrumentalteater. Det er med andre ord i høy grad opp til solister og orkester hvordan Autumn arias formes i tid, her og nå.

For min del har jeg "gitt notene", og plassert musikerne i rommet – og resten er opp til dem, og oss.
